IN THE

PAST

Vote Conservative

Ahhh, the past....

When we had an empire.

When we traded slaves.

When there was no welfare state. When women couldn't vote....

Actually, thinking about it....

the past was shit. Let's live in the present and vote for a better future.

ZERO-

HOURS

ECONOMY

Vote Conservative

The number of people on zero-hours contracts in the UK has hit record highs, increasing four-fold since 2010. In practice, these contracts trap millions of people in the UK into low-paid, highly insecure jobs. Companies such as Deliveroo have even invented their own employment vocabularies to sidestep the legal demands of workers' rights. To add insult to injury, people on zero hours contracts are not guaranteed a minimum number of work hours but must remain available for as many shifts as possible. For whom is this workforce 'flexible' - the workers, or the employees?

If you think it is actually better to put your money where your mouth is, don't vote for Theresa May. 40% of NHS trusts saw cuts to mental health services across 2015-2016. It has also been revealed that the number of qualified nurses working in psychiatry dropped by 10.8% from 41,320 in 2010 to 36,870 in 2015, following a parliamentary question. At one point in 2014, there were no mental health beds available for adults in the whole of England, while an NSPCC survey published in October 2015 found that more than a fifth of children referred to child and adolescent mental health services (CAMHS) in England were refused treatment. Iain Duncan Smith's tougher fit-to-work tests for sick and disabled people coincided with 590 "additional" suicides, 279,000 cases of mental illness and 725,000 more prescriptions for antidepressants – and one mental health charity found that 21 per cent of their patients had experienced suicidal thoughts due to the stress of the Work Capability Assessments. "100 people a day with a mental health diagnosis are sanctioned by the DWP," added Mr Greene of DPAC. "These people are going without food, without heat, without energy in their homes. [Ms May's speech] is words upon air. It means nothing."

“The richest one percent of the UK population own more than 20 times more wealth than the poorest 20 percent combined.”

The Conservative government have ploughed ahead with plans to reform business rates. Experts have warned a rise in property taxes will kill off thousands of independent businesses. The Conservatives have also abolished the Child Poverty Unit. Set up in 1999, the unit was intended to end childhood poverty in 20 years. There is now no target and Oxfam predicts a 50 percent increase in child poverty by 2020.

CHILDREN

Vote Conservative

From 6th April 2017, Child Tax Credit - which is worth up to £2,780 per child per year - will only be paid for the first two children in any family. The Government is also removing the family element - a payment of £545 for a newborn first child. This hits low-income families the hardest, and forces women who have had a third child through rape to prove their ordeal to get a special exception.

The vote to leave was not an anti-elitist revolt. It was funded by five extremely wealthy anti-European fanatics: Arron Banks, Peter Hargreaves, James Hosking, Robert Edmiston and Crispin Odey gave £14.9 million between them to the Leave campaign. The debate was decided between two different sets of elitist, privately educated white men, who, when the votes were counted, resigned, backstabbed each other or found other ways to not take responsibility for the pledges they had made. The Conservative government refuses to take any responsibility for the instability caused by the referendum they called, which has divided the country in two.
